About WHO@

WHO® (Working to Halt Online Abuse) is the oldest online safety organization dedicated to helping adult victims of cyberstalking and online harassment. Founded in February of 1997, WHO® is also the only organization to provide the most up-to-date cyberstalking statistics. WHOA-KTD (Kids/Teen Division) was founded in September of 2005 to help kids and teens being bullied, harassed and stalked online. Their president, Jayne A. Hitchcock travels the country speaking at middle/high schools; colleges/universities, libraries, to parents, the public and training law enforcement.

Her latest book, Cyberbullying & The Wild, Wild Web: What You Need to Know is available on Amazon.com

Use Cyber Street-Smarts

• Learn to use the Internet better - get a Facebook, Snapchat, Instagram, Twitter account, or whatever your child is “into” right now
• Ask your child to help you create your profile and then ask them to be your first friend
• Never let your child use the computer in their bedroom with the door shut - this is where trouble begins
• If your child turns off the computer or shuts their laptop when you walk by, it’s time to have a talk with them - they’re hiding something
• Check the web browser cache and/or history - it it’s empty, there’s a problem (hit the Ctrl + H keys in your browser)
• Take advantage of “Smart Limits” or something similar on your cell phone service to control who your kids can talk/text to, how many texts they can send, etc.
• Try not to give out your real name, age, address or phone number online - this goes for you AND your kids
• Employers are now doing “Google” searches and checking profiles/blogs/etc online - be careful what you post or you could lose your current job or a potential one
• Don’t put too much information in your profile, it can and will be used against you
• Lurk on groups, message boards, blogs and chat rooms before posting messages
• When you do participate online, be careful -- only type what you would say to someone’s face
• Block or ignore unwanted users online. Take advantage of the "Block all users except those on my buddy list" or something similar
• Your first instinct may be to defend yourself if you are bothered online - DON’T - this is how most online harassment situations begin
• For more online safety tips, go to haltabusektd.org/resources/online.shtml

What to do if your child is being bothered online:

1. KEEP EVERYTHING! Don’t delete e-mails, IMs, social media posts, etc. Place them in a separate folder on your hard drive, USB storage, DVD etc and print out a hard copy. You can also take a screen shot. To do this, hit the Ctrl and Print Screen (or Prt Sc) keys on your keyboard, then open a graphics or word processing program and go to Edit, Paste (or Ctrl + V keys), then save the document.

2. Encourage your child to let you, a teacher or other adult they trust know about what is happening online.

3. Make sure they contact the person bothering them online ONE TIME with something as simple as “Please leave me alone.” They do not need to explain why. CC (copy) the person’s ISP and keep a copy of for your records.

4. Do NOT respond after that, but do keep anything the harasser/cyberbully may send

5. Send complaints to the person’s ISP with the full headers (if via email). If you don’t know how to do this, go to haltabusektd.org/help/headers/index.shtml.

6. If someone has created a web site to harass your child, complain to the server where the site is hosted (we can help you with this).

7. If the harassment/cyberbullying continues, Go to WHOA-KTD at haltabusektd.org for more info and resources.
